LES PETITS CHANTEURS À LA GUEULE DE BOIS

MONDAY 27 JANUARY
11:00 – 11:20

MUSIC HALL

Children's songs and rock music are coming together in this family show. Les Petits Chanteurs à la Gueule de Bois, winner of the Schweizer Kleinkunstpreis 2018, not only let us wiggle our toes in „De pied en cap“, but also stimulate our dream machine aka brain. From the refusal to go to bed to grandmother's loss of memory to the judgement of others: the musicians' collective from French-speaking Switzerland pays a smiling tribute to the world of childhood. „De pied en cap“ is especially aimed at children of primary school age, but even the older ones will hardly be able to escape the charm.

ELINA DUNI & ROB LUFT – SONGS OF LOVE & EXILE

MONDAY 27 JANUARY
15:00 – 15:20

MUSIC HALL

Elina Duni is a Swiss-Albanian singer. Having been signed to ECM Records since 2012, her hallmark combination of traditional Albanian folk songs and jazz has led to worldwide critical acclaim. For this new project, she is joined by guitarist Rob Luft. Luft's playing incorporates echoes of West African high-life, Celtic folk and textural minimalism. His joyously original sound finds an ideal counterpart in Elina Duni's vocals. Together, they take us on a journey through timeless folk songs which still resonate so truly today, as well as their co-written original material about contemporary issues facing us all.

THE TWO – CROSSEDSOULS

MONDAY 27 JANUARY
17:00 – 17:20

MUSIC HALL

Mountains never come across but mankind meets mankind. Fair enough, for if Switzerland is known for its mountain heights, Mauritius island is not. Nevertheless, the Blues, the music of tormented tales, allowed an improbable encounter between the Swiss musician Thierry Jaccard and the Mauritian Yannick Nanette. From their roots deeply anchored in the 20's grows an atypical flow, tinted with modern and creole sounds. The duo takes us on maroon tracks where only these pensive wayfarers roam, with the Blues as a whirlwind, which quakes their souls and bones.

RAPHAEL JOST – MOOSEDAYS

TUESDAY 28 JANUARY
11:30 – 11:50

MUSIC HALL

He's a singer, pianist, song-writer, arranger and band leader and was honored with the Swiss Jazz Award already for his debut album – there's no doubt: Raphael Jost can be described as an exceptional talent. He's got a surprisingly powerful and warm voice and knows how to blur the boundaries between jazz and pop. Now Jost presents his second album „Moose days“. Playing mostly original songs he proves a great sense for catchy melodies and his undoubted skills as an arranger. He enjoys crooning like Sinatra while he's surrounded by a horn section consisting of two outstanding soloists on trumpet and tenor sax as well as a groovy rhythm section.
